VOLUME 10

CLARESHOLM ALTA, APR. 23, 1914.

NO. 9

Does Claresholm Want a Band

Hardly a year ago now the Claresholm boys got together and organized a band and under the leadership of R. M. Larkin have now gotten so they can play. Not long ago four or five new instruments were purchased from the neighborhood of seventy dollars. Since the band was organized it has played free at garden parties, concerts, etc. that has been under the auspices of churches of any denomination even going at their own expenses five miles out of town to play for a church.

This summer their intentions were to buy a lot, build a band stand, and give at least once a week a free band concert. The question is are they able to get to fulfill their good intentions?

2nd. Have the citizens of Claresholm given the Band the proper support? During the last year the band, feeling they were not capable of giving an indoor concert satisfactorily to the people and to satisfy themselves financially, looked to the community to come here under a guarantee (Thinking the towns people would patronize them) and give the very best thing that they had. April, 1913, "Byones Trombones" a musical party was brought to town under the auspices of the Band who guaranteed them sixty dollars and gave that sum when they were in Claresholm, the very highest class of music and singing. Did the people turn out? Just so much so that the band went twenty three dollars in the hole. Who has to pay this $23? The band boys and out of their own pockets. Who should pay it? It has been suggested that each business firm make some donation to get the band back on its feet again. The boys are just about discouraged about Claresholm needs a Band. Think it over "Mr. Business Man."

Granum Special

On Wednesday night the boys of Granum had a big time. A Snodgrass was given in the Opera House for the Baseball Benefit. A large crowd turned up and a Grannie time was had by everyone. No less than twenty-five boys came from Moriak bringing a couple of red fighters with them. About $50 was made for the team. The program consisted of the music of Macleod and Alexander of Granum, wrestling the decision was in favor of Macleod. A boxing match of four rounds by DeLoraine and Vic Anderson of Granum, each round was a tie, the decision was in favor of Granum.

The Granum cowboys topped the bill when W. Burrows acted as a Hong Kong Chick and Vick Smith as Worry Willie the drifting Dutch. Talk about laugh you W. Cochlin laughed so hard he couldn't put on his little act. Mr. Dixon of Macleod sang a couple of songs which were appreciated greatly. The boys then took out a couple of kites and cut the way through the smoke and all dashed homeward.

To all Churches

Sunday May 3rd is Anti Cigarette Day and Sunday May 10th is Mother's day.

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." We must recover the trap set by the tobacco trust if we wish to keep our boys and girls from falling into it.

Mother's day has been called "The highest bit of practical sentiment that has ever taken hold of the hearts of men."

The Object: To honor and uplift motherhood and to give happiness to the "Best mother ever lived."

Your Mother: Loving remembrance and of your Mother (or her memory) through some distinct act of kindness, gift, tribute or letter.

Badger: A white carnation—always a white flower—graffing purity, beauty, love, charity and fidelity.

Macleod the Winners

The football game came off at Macleod on Monday as per schedule, and was the fastest of its kind that has been seen this season. Both teams were in good fettle, but ours being a picked up team, lacked the combination which the Macs showed their superiority in by planting these goals to our one.

The line ups was as follows: Forward: Moorhead, Cannon, Collier, McKay and Linton. Halves: Bryon, Clark. Backs: Robson, and Willis. Goal: Staveland. The other line up was not obtained but it is immaterial, they played as one man and great praise is due our defense that more shots and rushes let. We were not let by.

The play started briskly and on time, holding about the same pace all the way through. No roughness was seen and the game was refereed perfectly, although some of us wonder why it was Macleod got a kick when their goal tender—Well we don't know what he did with the ball, but we have seen ourselves stuck free downward over a chair when we were a child with tummy trouble, and what he did looked very similar to that, except that he used the ball instead of a chair. In other words he detained the ball without a license and we think we should have at least been awarded a free kick.

Did everybody see Seattie leave twirling over the field, it is to tell you that Seattie was suffering the draw kicks of a weak old sprain and stuck the play as though he didn't know what spring money. Willis was the man that shot the lucky shot, and though nearly all the rest had a try at it, there were only two that made some headway. As there was no goal judge, the referee had to make his decision from the goal keepers testimony.

It is necessary to mention each player in individually. They all played their parts splendidly, being the picks of football from Staveland and Claresholm. With our own team of good practice we will give Macleod a stiff run for the Rogers cup, which is to be competed for in the Southwest area league during the coming season.

We are very loathe to criticize but we must say that we do not approve of having cement sidewalks that are not taught to keep their place, which is not the reason for the failure of the Claresholm players are not used to having sidewalks to stroll around on between kicks. Why not play a match with Macleod and the cowboys put up a trophy. We could use it to good advantage along in front of The Union Bank.

Confirmation Services

The confirmation in the Lutheran Church last Sunday was very successful, four girls and one boy were confirmed, Elina and Sigurd Tolleson, Elizabeth and Ethel Svingest were confirmed in English and Roman Catholic Church was confirmed in Norwegian. The rehearsal of the confirmations was very successful, the church was nicely decorated with flowers. The Durness Society served a light lunch at the service.

The holy communion will take place for the confirmants and for all who wish to partake on Sunday, May 10th at 11 o'clock.

Fooled Again

The people of Claresholm were once more fooled on Tuesday evening last. The Macleod Shirley's were in the U. O. G. P. hall but failed to turn up. After the show advance was to be had but never mind crying over spilled milk there are lots of good things coming. "What Happened to Jones" and there's—Oh! Just see that one first and then wait for the circus.

Baseball The school boys played Granum school boys on Friday last in Granum the score was only 31 9 in favor of Claresholm. Our boys were every one faster and in every way, they batted two of Granum pitchers from the box. The first part of the game was a close steady but as soon as our boys got warm they started shooting the fireworks. In one inning at least twenty runs were made each player bating three times.

Hatch your chicks in April if you want winter layers. Keep them growing continuously, as while you are growing your chicks you are growing your eggs.

Young chicks are babies—Treat them as such. Do not feed the chicks for at least thirty-six hours after they are hatched as feeding too soon overtaxes their digestive system and causes diarrhoea.

Dust the setting hens and keep them free from lice at all times. Protect the chicks against chilling when transferring them to the brooder. Auditing Hotel, situate on lot 9 and 10, Block 3, Plan 4362, Nanton.

POETRY TRULY GREAT.

Matthew Arnold's Rule by Which It May Be Tested.There can be no more useful help for discovering what poetry belongs to the class of the truly excellent and can therefore do us most good than to have always at one's mind lines and couplets of the great masters and to apply them as a touchstone to other poetry.
Of course we are not to require this other poetry to resemble them. It may be very dissimilar. But if we have any idea what the great masters did we have lodged them well in our minds and subtle tendencies for detecting the presence or absence of high poetic quality and also the degree of this quality in all other poetry which we may place beside them. Short passages, even single lines, will serve our turn quite sufficiently. * * *Take of Shakespeare a line or two of Henry IV's explanation with sleep:
"Will thou upon the high and mighty mount Seal up thy shipboard with sleep and Hear us how he says and rock his cradle."In erude of the rude, impious surly ***
And take as well Hamlet's dying request to Horatio:
"If thou didst ever hold me in thy heart,
Absent thee from felicitous air, I bid
And in this harsh world draw thy breath
No more."To tell my story,  Treat of Milton that Miltonic passage:
"Darken'd so, yet shone
Above them all the archangel, but his face Deep scars of thunder had intrenched, and hisBut on his faded cheek,  Add two such lines as:
"And courage never to submit or yield,
And wait till Fortune lead me where I will;
And then with the exquisite close to the line of Prospero, the loss
"A sweet and bitter ecstasy of pain
To seek her through the world."These few lines, if we have tact and use them as touchstones for detecting the presence or absence of high poetic
quality and also the degree of this
quality in all other poetry which we may place beside them. Short
turn quite sufficiently. * * *

STAGELAND IN NEW YORK.

One Spot on Broadway the Mecca of

All the Actor Fools.

New York to a actor means Broadway and Forty-second street and the Theater district. There is no place in America like it perhaps not in the world. Set in the middle of a city, the Theater district is a city in itself, with dozens of cabarets and even a language peculiarly its own. Its frontiers shift, but they are, and they are inviolable, but they are as real and definite as stone walls could make them. A block too far in any direction and you are in the realm of business, society or boarding houses

but across the theater boundary line and you are in a actor land.

Crowds of carefully dressed people saunter up and down, stopping half a dozen times in each block to gossipy exchange enthusiastic greetings. The men are clean shaven, with hard starch cut faces, which somehow look minutely without makeup. The women are consciously striking, whether they are pretty or not, and their dresses show absolute genius for their clothing's sheer pretentious they have to leave a lasting impression. An outsider—or, "nonprofessional"—looks oddly neutral and ineffective beside them, like a man in ordinary street attire on a stage of a village theatre. Everybody knows everybody else personally, by reputation or mutual friends. There is a close fraternity, this order of grease paint, and beneath all the rivalry and rivalry and jealousy there is a warm and vital bond of comradeship. From

"Anne, Actress," by Juliet G. Sager.

Frank Societies

Germany is said to hold the record for societies for extraordinary objects.

One of these is entitled "Society

For Promoting Good Manners among

the Poor," while another unites in the bonds of fellowship all Germans wearing pointed boards. A curious anecdote is that of ex-communication, detention for six months in an asylum being the punishment for membership. As illustrating the craze for associations in Germany it may be mentioned that in the little town of Witten, with only

2,000 inhabitants, there are twenty-two societies—London Standard.

GENIUS AND A CLUB.

Contemporary Criticism as an Unfair and Merciless Weapon.

The world has never seen an age in which there was more action for questioning the validity of contemporary judgment. It would be the height of foolishness to suppose that the present the victors of an appreciation of the great masters and to apply
them as a touchstone to other poetry.
Of course we are not to require this
any idea what the great masters did
we have lodged them well in our minds
presence or absence of high poetic
quality in all other poetry which we may place beside them. Short
turn quite sufficiently. * * *Take of Shakespeare a line or two of Henry IV's explanation with sleep:
"Will thou upon the high and mighty mount Seal up thy shipboard with sleep and
Hear us how he says and rock his
cradle."In erude of the rude, impious surly ***
And take as well Hamlet's dying request to Horatio:
"If thou didst ever hold me in thy heart,
Absent thee from felicitous air, I bid
And in this harsh world draw thy breath
No more."To tell my story, ***
Treat of Milton that Miltonic passage:
"Darken'd so, yet shone
Above them all the archangel, but his face Deep scars of thunder had intrenched, and
hisBut on his faded cheek, ***
Add two such lines as:
"And courage never to submit or yield,
And wait till Fortune lead me where I will;
And then with the exquisite close to the
line of Prospero, the loss
"A sweet and bitter ecstasy of pain
To seek her through the world."These few lines, if we have tact and
presence or absence of high poetic
quality in all other poetry which we may place beside them. Short
turn quite sufficiently. * * *

STAGELAND IN NEW YORK.

One Spot on Broadway the Mecca of

All the Actor Fools.

and you are in a actor land.

are consciously striking, whether

oddly neutral and ineffective beside

attire on a stage of a village the-

and vital bond of comradeship. From

"Anne, Actress," by Juliet G. Sager.

Frank Societies

Germany is said to hold the record

for societies for extraordinary objects.

for six months in an asylum being the

the little town of Witten, with only

societies—London Standard.

You may like your breakfast rare

You do not notice them with the naked eye but they are there, and if they are not killed by thorough cooking they will cause tuberculosis in the digestive follow associated diseases and discomforts—Farms and Fireside.

ONE VIEW OF SLEEP.

Likened to the Freezing of Water in a Pond or Bowl.

The approach of sleep is much like the freezing of water in a pond or bowl.
Paint splashes dark from the sides; water and ice, dark, barely perceptible, appear in the middle. Only a faint process not less grateful to the long unbroken rest of the middle. Only a longing for the, for the one desire for the time being to be deflected from the path which it is its own element presents, as might the other a sort of proof against the plunge of an ice-berg, formed in its own light, slight, applied with judgment, will help the matter on. The inroduction of a finger will sometimes change a bowl of congealing water to a solid mass. A bit of ice old in it the proper amount will help on the water's freezing, and so will thinking of your latest dream help to induce slumber.Transparent and cold as ice are too and sleep nothing will keep brain and water safer and warmer. All glances from them and tonight stir up mind or mood. The parallel holds to the last, for nothing can more resemble the ride awakening of a slumber than the sudden breaking of ice, and nothing is more like a gradual and pleasant wakening than the melting of ice when breaking and end are alike inconceivable. G. E. Phelps in "A Farmer's Notebook."

GOOD BALANCE WHEEL FOR GRAIN CULTIVATION

Renewed activity in industrial enterprises in Western Canada is a Healthy Sign

From various centres in Western Canada come accounts of renewed activity in industrial enterprises.

In Edmonton the Great West Garment Company reports that its factory is now doing its business as against 1912. The firm now employs 100 men and women and has a yearly pay roll of $75,000. Four travelling salesmen are on the road in Western Canada. The lines at present are shirts, overalls, pants and workman's clothing.

Mr. J. B. Grimth, Secretary-Treasurer of the Edmonton Portland Cement Company, says that plans are being made to enlarge the 1,500 barrel plant at Maribou, Alta., by installing a fourth kiln, with a capacity of 500 barrels a day. The plant will be overhauled during the winter months. The company has 20,000 barrels of cement on hand with orders for delivery during the next 30 days.

In Saskatoon the plant of the Northland Milling Co., at Factoria is being equipped with machinery of the latest modern type, costing about $50,000. Work is stated to be progressing very favorably on both the flour mill and elevator. It is expected that the plant will be put in operation early in January.

In Medicine Hat and Redcliff nearly all the industries are running with a full staff, even under the adverse business conditions which prevail in various sections of the country. It is a striking fact that, in cities like Edmonton, Medicine Hat and Redcliff where manufacturing establishments have been built up under the stable trade policy which has existed for the past twenty years, the falling off in business and the problem of unemployment have been less in evidence than anywhere in the West. A sane industrial development is a good balance wheel for the exclusive grain growing policy which the Western farmers have followed during the past few years. The army of harvest hands, who are required to handle the grain crops of the West, must find employment in nearby towns during the winter months, and it is the building up of industrial centres, such as those referred to above, which will do more than anything else to solve the labor problem which the Western farmer has to contend with every fall.

MILK AND CREAM

Home Market For Dairy Products Will Soon Absorb Total Supply

Much has been written recently about the falling away in Canada's export trade in butter, cheese and other dairy products. Statistics show, however, that the falling away in export trade really indicates that the farmer is finding the home market of greater advantage than the far away market of Great Britain.

It is not generally known that every Canadian consumes on an average 15 pounds of butter, and three pounds of cheese every year and one pint of milk every day. When to this is added the increased consumption of cream for family use, together with the comparatively new ice cream and condensed milk trade, some idea can be formed of how the home market is absorbing all the farmer can produce.

The Dominion Dairy Commissioner estimates the home trade in dairy products at $105,000,000, while the exports are about $31,000,000.

It would be hard to convince the farmer, who is within a reasonable distance of a city like Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, or in the West, Calgary, Edmonton or Winnipeg, that the building up of these great industrial centres is not without advantage to all classes of the community.

Trifling in any direction out of Calgary or Edmonton brings one in touch with the big dairy development that is going on in the neighborhood of every Western town. Instead of waiting a whole year for a cash return on a speculative wheat crop, the farmers of the West are getting a cash return every week or month by shipping their grain in the form of dairy and meat products to adjacent markets.

The home market, which can absorb all the farmer can produce at ever increasing prices, is not to be neglected, and the farmer who enters to the home market is serving not only his own but the interest of every Canadian best. Expansion in industrial enterprises under the existing trade policy develops urban centres, the farmers' sources of best home market. Factory workers must be fed, and the high prices the farmer is getting today result in great measure from the enormous demand created by the artisan and his dependents.
